DAILY HERALD.

Single Copies of the Herald, 5 Cents.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at the office of the Herald, 50 North Spring Street, Los Angeles, Cal., where contracts for advertising can be made for it.

Herald Steam Printing House.
The Herald Steam Printing House is not surpassed by any job printing office in the Pacific Coast, outside of San Francisco, in facilities for doing job work. Low prices, good work and execution may be relied upon at this office.

Special Notice.
Hereafter notices of companies, societies, churches, etc., will only be inserted in the Herald as paid advertisements. We reserve for places of worship a gratuitous directory which will appear every Sunday morning.

The Herald office is connected with the telephone system of Los Angeles city and county. Orders for advertisements or job work may be sent through this medium to number 154.

The Herald is the official paper of the city of Los Angeles. The city documents, tax lists and all other municipal notices appear only in its columns.

Mr. B. N. Rowe is the Santa Ana agent of the Herald.

STATE AND PARTY COUNTY TAXES

1884-5.....Rep.....$261,000

1885-6.....Rep.....735,000

Increase first year of Republican party in power, $372,000; or per cent. of increase, 203, nearly. Result—no roads, no buildings, nothing.

Temporary Retirement.

During the current canvass Mr. Joseph D. Lynch, the Democratic nominee for Congress, in the Sixth District, will surrender the editorial supervision of the Herald.

It is a fact admitted by all that the revenue derived from improved real estate in this city at the moment is a large percentage on the investment.

Few people will touch property that only pays 12 per cent. on the purchase money. On bond and mortgage money will pay that with no danger of collapse or shrinkage. In view of this fact the statement of a citizen to the effect that the taxes eat up over two months of his revenue for this current year is very significant.

All his property is improved and paying a large income on the valuation. This is the result of Republican reform.

In Abram S. Hewitt New York will have a Mayor of which she may well be proud, should the Gothamites be wise enough to elect him.

George is a pure and honest man. He is also an able man; but he is visionary to an extreme, and likely to try impracticable measures leading directly to universal anarchy. It is altogether likely that Hewitt will be elected. The Republican convention has nominated no one yet. The Committee of One Hundred names Theodore Roosevelt. The only way for conservative business men to succeed is to concentrate on some one man.

CHARLES A. SUMNER, who is running for Congress in the Fourth District, is a young man of brains and ambition. He is engaged in a bad cause—trying to defeat ex-Mayor McCoppin, one of the purest and ablest men San Francisco has ever had. If Sumner has "horse-sense" enough to know "on which side his political bread is buttered" he will get out of the business he is now engaged in. Charlie, take off your coat, turn in your armor and elect McCoppin, or—well, there is a big political knife being ground which will separate your political jugular so clean you will be dead before you touch the ground!

The great fight in San Francisco against Bartlett was made on the "dollar limit" in taxation. Any limit in taxation is unwelcome to Republican politicians. Unfortunately for this class, all Republicans are not politicians. Under stress of the popularity accruing to the Democracy from Bartlett's economy in the city government, all the Pro-tem forms of Republican parties and platforms in that city had to adopt the dollar limit. Had they faltered in it, the entire city had gone Democratic. "Silurianism," they facetiously called it. But now they have to swallow the monster themselves and they have to swallow it scales and all—in pretense. The people know them, and will vote for the party who have made economy and low taxes patent facts in the past. In our country it will be well to vote for the party which ran the government on $361,000, as against $731,000 a year.

From many parts of the State come these reports about trading office for the Legislature. It is the purpose of the Republican party to secure the Senator at any cost. That Senator will be Sargent, if they can get a majority in the Legislature. Let us be true to ourselves and elect our men here. In addition to these other considerations, our men are by far the best. Of the five Republican legislative candidates three are lawyers; one is an editor and the fifth is a professional politician. Of our one is a lawyer, and one of the ablest in the State; two are fruit-growers of much experience, one of these having been previously a lawyer, and an ex-Judge of the County Court, and ex-District Attorney; a fourth is a merchant, and is now engaged in the laudable work of building a railroad from his part of the county to the coast; the fifth belongs to the toiling masses, is a wage-winner, an industrious working man. On their list the professional class is the only one represented. It is one-sided and not in sympathy with the entire people. Our list embraces all classes and all interests. By all means it is the best to vote for.

Some too sanguine and offensive partisan found out that at some time or other Mayor Bartlett had come into possession of a bit of property in Chinatown which was rented as a wash-house. This was spread out in columns with terrible "scare heads," and all the Republicans in that city—that is, all the senseless Republicans—got on their mourning weeds to attend at once the political funeral of the Mayor. People who run newspapers, like those who play chess, want to look a few moves ahead. As soon as this matter was made so much capital of, the Democratic journals sent a reporter to look up Mr. Swift's Chinese record. What did they find? Why they found a Chinese in the mansion on Columbia street. He is in fine feather, and evidently enjoying "All the privileges of the most favored nations," according to the true tenor of the Burlingame-Swift treaties. Then, again, it is found that the whole Swift family send their dirty linen—not the political soiled garments, all the waters of the sea would not wash that Dolly Varden calico record clean—but, the ordinary family linen to a Chinese wash house. This is a thing of to-day. Now it is notorious that there are no white laundries in the Bay City that need go begging for a place to rent. It is quite as notorious that there are many girls, virtuous and competent in that city to whom a position in the Swift mansion on Columbia street would be acceptable. There are White Laundries, too, which would be more than pleased to do up the Swift soiled clothes. The distinction is one with a difference, and a vital difference, brethren, if you have the gift of thought to catch the point.

In La Ballona township the Democrats have nominated for Justices of the Peace W. D. Madigan and M. Levering. In the same township the candidates for constables are J. F. Figueroa and M. K. Barretto. These gentlemen are all well known and popular. The Democracy around our pretty seaside city of Santa Monica were evidently actuated by the same patriotic spirit which ruled in the other conventions of the party, and put forward good timber for official positions. Madigan and Barretto were former Angelenos, and in this city they are deservedly popular. They are all competent and honest. The voters of that township will be well protected in their rights if they put these men in office.

At El Monte J. F. Norman and C. C. Steele are running for the Justices' office, and Wm. Mills and W. L. Borden for constables. The untiered in that sure and fast Democratic township will be in the best of hands when they put this quartette of honest, capable men in office. At El Monte the nominees have a walk-over in the race. Their election is secure. It is of interest to the whole party, however, to have such capable and popular men on the local ticket. El Monte will send in this year an unusually large majority for every candidate on the list, from Bartlett down. The old stronghold is safe to do her full duty. The voters will get out and cast their ballots for the best ticket they ever voted for.

In the city, T. F. Botello and Ed. Smith are running for Constables. Both are excellent men. They are active, experienced, competent in every respect. These are Los Angeles boys, known to the entire community. They are deservedly popular in the city, and will poll a very large vote. It is claimed by the other side that there is a big advantage of party strength in their favor. Our men await in perfect trust the action of the voters on election day. Those who claim a walk-over are likely to suffer a very rude awakening when the ballots are all counted. These young men have elements of strength on their side which will put the balance of the votes where it will do the most good to the most popular men—and they are our nominees.

The most dangerous demagogue and scoundrelly charlatan in the State has paid us a visit, and certain of us have heard what he had to say and how he said it. Such an harangue should not be permitted in public. It was of that virulent, blasphemous character, that if any of our own respected citizens were heard giving utterance to such language, he would be arrested for the offense. He has been heard by some of us before. To others this was their first enjoyment of that rare treat.

He and his doings should be beneath the notice of any respectable paper, and would be beneath ours were it not that the Republican candidate for Governor is reported to have used his name at several places where he has spoken in his tour of the State. Mr. Swift is reported as advising his audiences to vote for this scoundrelly charlatan if they cannot vote for himself. We could heartily hope these reports were untrue were they not made so frequently, and never contradicted. Swift owes it to himself and to the decent name of the State to deny this charge if he can. By saying if you cannot vote for me, do not vote for Bartlett, but for this ignorant, vulgar, dangerous demagogue, Swift puts himself exactly on the same plane of vulgar rascality that is occupied by this vain and blatant charlatan. He puts himself on a dead level with a man who by an evil chance occupying an official place in the municipal government of San Francisco, the other day, seems by the reported facts in the case, to have deliberately put himself between the murdering malpractitioner who appears to have done to death poor Sarah Lawson, and the gallows that should have meted out the punishment of that fellow. If there ever was a case where

"A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind" That was right in this case. The record of this man is notorious. Swift knows it. Yet he tells voters to give their suffrage to this wretched demagogue and charlatan instead of to Bartlett. For shame, Mr. Swift! For the sake of the State's fair fame deny this report. Or if that is past your reach, then stop such talk, which to say the least is inconsiderate.

But, will Mr. Swift deny it? We fear not. Judging the man of to-day by what he has been in the past, he would do even more than this to secure his own election.

A WEARY SEARCH.

B. Muzanti Finds His Wife at Last.

DETECTED BY MACCARONI.

A Peanut Butcher and a Faithless Wife from Hartford Discovered Living on S. Olive Street.

Bartolomeo Muzanti, a native of Sunny Italy, had achieved considerable success in business in Hartford, Connecticut, where he had lived three months ago. He had three fruit stands, all paying well. He had a good looking wife, much younger than himself, for he is 45 whilst she is only 25, and two pretty children, a girl 7 years of age and a boy 5 years old. Muzanti, who himself is a rather coarse and surly Italian, had in his employ a good looking blonde countryman named Luigi Carboni. This young man openly attended to the business of selling peanuts and apples for his partner but secretly was making the strongest kind of love to his partner. Muzanti in the early part of July made up his mind to visit the partner and was so imbued with confidence towards Carboni that he left him in charge of the peanut stands and asked him to minister to the comforts of his family. The unfaithful factious lost no time in singing love duets with his fair Dulcinea and they agreed that flight was necessary in order to enjoy life. Carboni thereupon sold the fruit stands, the furniture and all the belongings of his master Muzanti and on the 3rd of August fled from Hartford with his mistress and her two children. Upon the return of the old man, who had been recalled by telegram, he found his house deserted, his business in the hands of others, and his wife and babes gone to parts unknown. His bankbooks, too, which gave him credit for $2,500 in the Hartford banks had disappeared with all that was dear to him, and there was no clue left by which to pursue the despoiler of his all nor the faithless wife.

The services of James Macarony, a detective, were called in and the weary search commenced. At Albany the first reliable clue was discovered. Carboni, with the woman and her children, had registered at a hotel there as man and wife, and when they left their trunk had been checked for Los Angeles. Muzanti and Macarony at once took the trail for this city, where they arrived some time ago. They put themselves in communication with the Chief of Police and the hunt was resumed. For days it was prosecuted fruitlessly and as Macarony had to return to-day to Hartford, Muzanti had to give up the search. He was ready to go back also. There was no doubt that the runaways had been here, but he had tried to get room at the Laclede Hotel on the 5th of August, but failed on account of the lack of accommodation. Yet, as they did not frequent any of the Italian resorts of Los Angeles, it was feared that they had departed some after their arrival. Two days ago a man answering Carboni's description was seen coming out of the Grand Central Hotel, and then the clue was more lost. Yesterday morning a young Italian woman accompanied by two children, went into Castiglione Bros. store and ordered a box of macaroni to be sent to her house on South Olive street, south of Second street. This woman and the children answered the description of Muzanti's wife and offspring very much and she was spotted. When all was ready chief Davis in company with Macarony and the detective husband proceeded to the house and the detective saw Mrs. Muzanti. As soon as she saw her spouse she threw up her hands and fell upon the floor in a dead faint. After being revived the husband started in to reproach and revile her, but was out short with a round turn by the officers. Chief Davis, now that the children were safe, cut the greatest figure in his lamentations, but he was pacified when the woman returned them intact. Carboni was then hunted up, and found at work chopping wood on Hill street. He was arrested and locked up. The Chief of Police took charge of the children, and as their mother would not part with them, she was allowed to go along, and they were made comfortable in the officers' quarters at the station. Muzanti will take back his children to Hartford to-day. All the parties speak English, though in that peculiar Italian way which humorists think they can take off.

THE HUBBARD INQUEST.

Brutal Carcass Meets With Fatal Results.

The story of the shooting of John Hubbard, a Union sailor, at San Pedro last Sunday, was told at the coroner's inquest yesterday, at Orr & Satch, by the witnesses of the affray. The shooting was done by a young man who pretended to be a passenger on the schooner "Sparrow," but who in reality did sailor's work. Fred Christie, a prisoner now confined for fifty days on a conviction for battery committed in San Pedro, stated that he was present with others at the shooting, which occurred at 9:30 and that the deceased had done nothing to justify it, but that the man who did it said he was afraid that they would "jackle" him. The witness upbraided him for harrasing the sailor's Union working on a vessel and wanted to fight. The man who did the shooting refused to fight, but when he was struck pulled out a pistol. The hostile crowd, of which Christie was one, then attempted to disarm him and during the scuffle the pistol went off and Hubbard said: "Help me, I am shot in the stomach and am dying." The wounded man was attended by Dr. Weidman and on Monday returned to the Sister's Hospital, where he died on Thursday. The post mortem showed that the bullet had entered the body in the right side below the right rib, placed the liver and stuck in the backbone opposite the fifth dorsal vertebra. The jury returned a verdict that John Hubbard, aged 24 years, a native of Ireland, came to his death on the 15th by a gunshot wound fired by a person unknown to the jury.

Passengers Sailed.

The steamer Santa Rosa sailed north yesterday morning with the following passengers:

Colton Wholesalers.

The Semi-Port says: Representatives of the firms of Hellman & Haas and M. A. Newmark & Co., Los Angeles wholesale merchants, are negotiating for ground on the Southern Pacific reservation on which to erect large brick buildings in which to carry on wholesale business. These two firms have long had their eyes on this point and have now definitely concluded to locate establishments here. This will be a good thing for the town of Colton and the whole San Bernardino valley. This is the natural center for such institutions and it is only a matter of time when we shall have many similar establishments located here. This move is absolutely necessary on the part of the firms in question, who wish to control the large and increasing trade of this and surrounding valleys, and they are wise in thus securing a footing while it is yet time.

SAN LUIS OBISPO COUNTY.

Railway Progress—Paso Robles Springs—The Santa Margarita.

San Luis—Port Harford—Arroyo Grande—Pismo.

DEAR HERALD:—The ride from Salinas to San Luis Obispo is a highly interesting one and traverses a rich section of country, which will be greatly improved by the progress of the coast road, which will reach the latter place inside of a year. This enterprise is being rapidly pushed by the Southern Pacific railway of Kentucky, to empty the Chronicle's favorite phrase, "the already ends as far south as San Ardo, where we boarded a construction train, which carried us as far as San Miguel, at which point we took the stage. Grading and tracklaying were being pushed very rapidly, and a section south of San Ardo would soon be ready for use. The track would be but a short time in reaching San Luis if it were not for the fact that there is some considerable tunneling to be done to get through the Morro pass in the San Luis Obispo mountains.

We took breakfast at the famous Paso Robles springs, and found the people in this neighborhood quite naturally agog at the near approach of the railway. Considering the medicinal virtues of these waters, Paso Robles cannot fail to become an international resort. They are of sovereign efficacy in many ailments, the adjoining country is picturesque, and the climate is everything that could be desired. The next point of interest was the Santa Margarita ranch of Gen. P. W. Murphy. The road traverses this royal domain for a distance of some fourteen miles, the General's home being but a short remove and in sight from the road. It has been for years the seat of a splendid hospitality, and its genial and whole-souled proprietor has here almost the proud privilege enjoyed by Robinson Crusoe on his desert island of being "monarch of all he surveyed." The General, embosomed in his eighty thousand acres of land, unsurpassed in fertility, if he cannot claim to rule "from the center all round to the sea," at least can ride from morning till night without getting off his own property.

The advent of the railway to San Luis Obispo cannot fail to bring about a great influx of people. The excellent lands, which can be obtained at a comparatively small price will be rapidly settled up, and the city of San Luis will benefit accordingly. Another element in the growth of the county is the fact that the large bodies of the recently forfeited land grant of the Atlantic & Pacific Railway are located in this county, bringing many pre-emptors here from abroad.

THE CITY OF SAN LUIS. The town of San Luis is a bright and bustling place, evidently peopled by a progressive class of inhabitants. It is well built, has a splendid court-house and fine public schools. Its leading citizens, with a public spirit which honors them, have erected a superb hotel at a cost of $100,000, but before they had taken the precaution to insure it it was burnt down, and its charred ruins may be seen opposite the court-house. However, the Cosmopolitan Hotel of mine host Morris is an excellent appointed one, and the visitor may find there all the comforts of a home. By the way, that whilom Anacleto, Mr. Michael Ryan, may be found behind the Cosmopolitan desk. "Mike" is the pink of politeness and his presence adds to the popularity of the hotel.

San Luis Obispo has a capital water supply which is drawn from the creek of the same name. This stream also serves as a very efficient open sewer, carrying away the refuse of the town in a very inappreciable, but it would seem satisfactory manner. The conformation of the country surrounding the place is attractive from a scenic standpoint, and numerous beautiful and productive valleys exist in its immediate neighborhood. The population of the city is placed at four thousand, and its citizens are mooting the question of putting on city attire by the adoption of a charter which will give them a mayor.

All over San Luis Obispo county there is a large native Californian element, and it is of a very superior character. Representatives of the De la Guerra and Castro and other old families are to be encountered very frequently, both in San Luis and Monterey counties.

San Luis Obispo has one of the best bands in the State of California. It is known as McCoy's Military Band. Its conductor is a musician of high order, who gives his men the best of the love of his art. The uniform of this band is something gorgeous, and its instruments cost $800. They consist of twenty-seven pieces. Prof. McCoy assured me that he intended to bring his pupils down to Los Angeles shortly, and complete for the prize for best instrumentation, which I understand has been offered by our people. I warn boy Los Angeles boys to be on the alert, for they will encounter in these highly accomplished musicians foemen worthy of their steel.

PORT HARFORD.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company has built a narrow gauge railway from Port Harford to San Luis Obispo. It is nine or ten miles in length, and passes through rich country. At the former place there is a fine wharf, from which heavy shipments of beans, grain and dairy products are made to San Francisco. This roadstead is finely sheltered by a range of mountains and by the configuration of the bay. A comparatively trifling outlay would make an effective breakwater and convert Port Harford into a harbor. An appropriation has recently been procured to erect a light-house there, and this will be a great convenience to the commerce of the coast, which would follow the erection of a breakwater are almost incalculable.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company has also built a narrow gauge road as far as Los Alamos through the most famous banana and dairy country of Southern California. It is understood that the enterprise of the company has proved profitable and that they are making money. The time is not far removed when San Luis will have several transportation strings to the bay, and she cannot fail to thrive immensely, in consequence.

ARROYO GRANDE. The place from which this letter is dated, Arroyo Grande, is located some fifteen miles south of San Luis Obispo. It has a very comely appearance and is the center of an exceedingly fertile valley. The bean crop is here the favorite staple and I am informed that in a fair year the farmers realize as high as $35 an acre for their crop. This is certainly a large enough return for any reasonable man, and very naturally such lands are held at a good round price. Arroyo Grande polls about three hundred and fifty votes. The town can boast of a hall as large and better furnished than the Turnverein in your city and is graced by a number of churches. The people are public-spirited and hospitable to a marked degree and impress the stranger very favorably indeed. Ryan's Hotel would do honor to a far more populous place.

We also paid a visit to Pismo, where there is a wharf and a splendid beach, where one can drive for miles on hard, shining sand. Here also there is a hotel which would probably be a haven of rest to a worn out man seeking rest and solitude.

It is believed that with the progress of railway building Pismo will become a place of considerable note and certainly stronger things than that have happened. I omitted to mention that Port Harford also has the Hotel Maine, excellent resort kept by Messrs. Gagliardo & Marie.

Arroyo Grande, Oct. 1th. J. D. L.

The "Herald" in Africa.

Extracts from letter from Congo from Capt. Herbert Ward, to his father, Gen. Ed. Williams.

My dear father, I received the illustrated issue of the "Herald" and was very much pleased to see your "Flying Fish" column. It is a very fine and, to me, out there in the wilderness, the best of all. I assure you that I will not delay a day in joining you in your adopted California home, and finish writing my book and lectures.

I don't know what you think of the Congo in America, but it is not much. There will never be such vast amounts of ivory and rubber obtained as Stanley says there would be.

At the rate California is growing, I suppose even Long Beach will be quite a large city by the sea. Wonderful people, the Americans! I am still collecting ivory, etc., and adding to my series of sketches and trophies of various kinds, almost daily. There is much sickness out here. The country is bad for white men. Two other white men and myself acted as executioners yesterday, by shooting some natives who had murdered some of our men. We hurried them into the grave. I am afraid the natives will turn out very bad out here by and-by.

HERBERT.

Capt. Ward, in addition to being a great traveler, is an artist, and enclosed some clever sketches of scenes in Congo. It is exactly as he hoped that he will have a large, and soon entertain the people of Los Angeles with lectures and pictures of Congo and his little down among his relatives at beautiful Long Beach.

Two Burglars Caught at Santa Anita.

A couple of tramps came in to El Monte from Los Angeles yesterday morning, and finding W. C. Bullard's house open gained an entrance through one of the windows. Their search for valuables was rewarded with a fine double shotgun, with which they made off. A little boy who had watched the interesting pair, ran to the village and gave the alarm. Deputy sheriff W. C. Bullard at once started in pursuit, and found the men four miles away, on the Baldwin ranch. They were brought back to El Monte, where they had a hearing before Justice M. S. Wilson. As they waived their right to a trial, they were committed to the County Jail. They gave the aliases of Joseph Brown and Chas. White, under which they will do as good service in San Quentin as under any others.

Santa Ana and Newport R. R.

The articles of incorporation of the Santa Ana and Newport R. R. Company were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday. Its purpose is to lay either one or two tracks from Santa Ana to the Pacific Ocean, and to operate said line, which will be ten miles in length. The place of business will be Santa Ana. The directors are Jas. McFadden, W. H. Spurgeon and I. M. Crookshank of Santa Ana, H. H. Wakeham of Newport, and S. W. Preble of Santa Ana. The $100,000 capital stock, $10,000 have been subscribed by the above directors. The shares are $100 each. One of the provisions of the incorporation papers is that the motive power shall be at the choice of the Company. The directors have the power to assess the capital stock in installments of more than ten per cent. per month, after the amount of capital stock required by law has been subscribed.

French Conversational Soiree.

The French conversational soiree given by Prof. Garneau at the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, last night had a marked success, and shows the popularity with which it meets the public favor. Among the principal features of the evening's entertainment was French conversation by Messrs. Broussau and Pelletier. Professor Koehring gave some very fine impressions of his own composition, and Miss Israel made a decided impression by the fine rendering of the violin selections from R. Provatore, etc. Mrs. Henry, well known among the musical world of Los Angeles, gave a Fantasia in fine style, and several other artists contributed to the pleasure of the evening.

If you would have appetite, flesh, color, strength and vigor, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla which will confer them upon you in rapid succession.

A Suggestion to Holders of Electric Railway Homestead Association tracts. Don't part with your lots on a small margin. The estate in which they are held by shrewd business people is shown by the fact that when we began to advertise an advance we still held nearly 800 lots, and eight days before the time set for the advance (October 16th) every lot was sold, and a number have been sold already at a good advance.

This Day You Can Attend the

After the sale of fine Percheron Norman horses, on Los Angeles street, between Second and Third. Will be sold by John C. Bell, the auctioneer, at 10 o'clock. These horses are much finer than can be seen on the fair grounds. They are 16 hands high; they are kind, they are as gentle as dogs, and good for every possible kind of work; can trot with two tons weight. They are in their fourth year, will grow until six years of age. The first importation of this breed that ever came to the city of Los Angeles. All covers of fine stock, do not fail to see them.

Also at the same time and at the commencement of the sale, one of the finest cows and calf by her side. A fine milkster. Milk like cream. Her milk sold for $60. A bull calf, one of a great pair. An extraordinary butter cow.

The "South Side Tract"

Is the name of the Electric Railway Homestead Association's "new" tract, and takes this name from the fact that it all lies on the south side of Pico street, and runs along the line of the Electric railway, having a frontage of 10-16 feet on Pico, and none of the lots more than 100 feet wide. Only seven of the 50 lots less than 30 feet in width, and most of every lot is covered with fruit of the choicest varieties.
